Buster's Holiday

A most refreshing announcement is the new Grand is the appearance of the most successful cartoon comedy "Buster Brown's Holiday," which will be presented for one night only, Wednesday, Sept. 19. The cheerful chums, Buster Brown and Tigie whom all readers of the funny pages of the New York Herald have learned to love, will delight the young and old. There is probably not a theatergoer who is not familiar with the name of Buster Brown and who have not laughed at his mischievous pranks and their attendant misfortunes, as shown in this successful cartoon comedy production, which will be seen in this city for the above mentioned engagement only this season. A large beauty chorus will lend charm to the entertainment as heretofore.

Starving to Death.
Because her stomach was so weakened by useless drugging that she could not eat, Mrs. Mary H. Walters of St. Clair st., Columbus, O., was literally starving to death. She writes: "My stomach was so weak from useless drugs that I could not eat, and my nerves so wrecked that I could not sleep; and not before I was given up to die was I induced to try Electric Bitters; with the wonderful result that improvement began at once, and a complete cure followed." Best health tonic on earth. 50c. Guaranteed by Frank G. Bland, druggist.

It is a well known medical fact that pine resin is most effective in the treatment of diseases of the bladder and kidneys. Sufferers from backache and other troubles due to faulty action of the kidneys find relief in the use of Pine-ules. $1.00 buys 30 days treatment. Sold by F. G. Bland.

A WOMAN'S WAY WITH A MAID

How One Housekeeper Disposed of the Servant Problem.
During fifteen years, writes a woman to Good Housekeeping, I have had in my service six girls who have been a comfort and help such as no mere servant can be.

I have never paid wages higher than my neighbors have done, and our home is so small that a maid has to be content with humble accommodations.

I have given, however, what every mistress does but bestow—frequently does not believe in—a certain friendliness, cordial sympathy, an interest in the inner life of a girl whose flesh and blood, whose heart, ambitions and fears are not so different from my own.

One plan I have carried out for years has added me largely in making the best of each maid who comes into my household. Once a month I give her an afternoon of companionship, not in the duties of the house, but in some little trip or recreation she chooses by herself.

Sometimes I accompany her to a matinee, while on pleasant summer days we go picnicking in the woods or to some shore resort. There have been afternoons spent in museums and art galleries, when I have been really astonished at what a glimpse of things rare and beautiful means to such a girl.

If you will try it, making yourself a key to the mysterious of such an exhibit, you will really find a great deal of pleasure in it. Hundreds of women go out of their way to do such work from a settlement standpoint, but it never occurs to them to give such a pleasure to a girl working in their own kitchens.

It is not alone the pleasure given that is appreciated; it is the companionship and kindly interest I find most valued. The holiday drive is not the weekly Thursday out. It is some other convenient day, and you will find, as I do, that the work has all been satisfactorily completed before the vacation occurs.

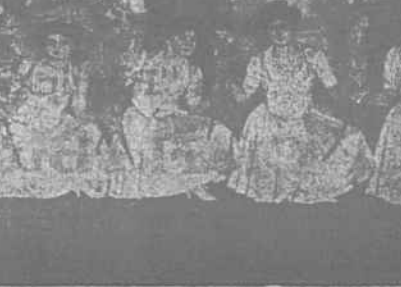

THE BABY'S BIB.

A Pretty One Can Be Made Out of a Handkerchief.

A baby cannot have too many bibs, and there is nothing a mother appreciates more than gift bibs for her baby. The pretty bib here shown is made of a handkerchief. One corner cut out at the back forms the little frill under the chin. A pretty baby pin set into the bib makes it a more valuable gift.

Another pretty bib can be made of sheer lawn, embroidered with the transparent embroidery, which consists of catstitch done on the wrong side of the material. For the flowers and simple outline stitch for the stems and scrolls set the embroidered lawn on to a heavy linen back. Trim the whole with a pretty valenciennes lace edge.

Are you Suffering With Catarrh?

The first stage of catarrh is caused by taking cold. Most people pay little attention to a cold. In a little while a case of catarrh is the result. Catarrh is a local disease, caused by an inflammation of the mucous membrane of the nasal and other passages. The nasal passages being most exposed to the changes of the weather are the first to become affected. Each cold taken aggravates the disease, and it will be noticed that colds are taken much more easily as the disease progresses. Soon the accumulation of mucus begins to drop into the throat, then on down into the lungs, impregnating both with the disease. If proper medicines are applied there is no reason why catarrh cannot be cured.
